

John T. Milliken

Department of Medicine

Instruction in medicine is provided during all three phases of the new Gateway Curriculum. This begins with immersive experiences and clinical skills that are introduced in Phase 1, bringing immediate clinical context to the foundational sciences. It continues during the Phase 2 Internal Medicine clerkship, where students directly apply knowledge and care to patients in a supervised setting, and it extends into the required Internal Medicine advanced clinical rotation and elective courses in Phase 3.

Website: <https://internalmedicine.wustl.edu>