Japanese

The Department of East Asian Languages and Cultures offers a major and a minor in Japanese Language and Culture. As a major in Japanese, a student can expect to gain proficiency in the language, study the area’s literary and cultural landmarks, and gain familiarity with Asian history and civilizations. All students majoring in Japanese normally must complete the fourth-level modern language course or its equivalent. They also must complete a prerequisite 200-level foundational course, at least one semester of classical Japanese, and the literature survey sequence. In addition, all primary majors must complete the required EALC Capstone Experience. Minors must complete at least two years of modern Japanese. They also must complete the prerequisite 200-level foundational course and the literature survey sequence.

The Department strongly encourages overseas study during students’ junior year. All majors and minors are expected to maintain at least a B– average in all departmental courses.

Language Placement: Placement tests are required for all students entering our language programs, with the exception of those students who have had no previous knowledge of the language and are planning to enroll in the first semester of the first year of instruction. Students who test into second-year Japanese and satisfactorily complete (with a grade of B– or better) at least one semester of language study may petition for 3 units of retroactive credit; students who test into third year or above and satisfactorily complete (with a grade of B– or better) at least one semester of language study may petition for 6 units of retroactive credit. Credit is limited to 3 units for testing into second year and 6 units for testing into third year or above. Please note that students with native language proficiency as determined by the individual language section, as well as students who enroll in courses below their placement level, are ineligible for retroactive credit units. Students who misrepresent their language proficiency so as to gain entrance to a course at the elementary or intermediate level will be dropped from that course.

Requirements:

1. First- and second-level Modern Japanese or the equivalent
2. Japan 226C (p. 1) Japanese Civilization

2. A minimum of one semester of Pre-modern Japanese (Japan 460 (p. 1) Pre-Modern Japanese I or Japan 461 (p. 1) Pre-Modern Japanese II) or the equivalent. Japanese 460 can only be counted as a language course; Japanese 461 may be counted as either a language or a literature course.
4. Three additional upper-level courses in Japanese literature and/or culture
5. Senior Capstone Experience. All students for whom Japanese is a primary major may satisfy their capstone requirement in one of two ways, both of which require participation in the EALC Senior Symposium in the spring.
   a) Successful completion of a senior honors thesis. This option, which also entitles the student to Latin Honors, requires a minimum of a 3.65 GPA. The thesis is researched and written over two semesters, for a total of 6 units, which are in addition to the 27 upper-level units required for the major.
   b) Successful completion of an approved 400-level seminar course, to be taken in the senior year. (This course may be included among the three additional required upper-level courses for the major.)

Please note that all majors, including second majors, must participate in the EALC Senior Symposium.

Additional Notes

1. Students must earn at least a B– in language courses in order to continue to the next level. They must also maintain at least a B– average in all required courses for the major. Students who do not meet this requirement may either repeat the course(s) in question or earn at least a B– in an approved equivalent course or courses (either during the summer or in a study abroad program).
2. Courses for the major may not be taken Credit/No Credit.
3. Normally, no more than 6 units of transfer or study abroad non-language courses may be applied to the major.
4. Normally, no more than 3 units of Independent Study may be counted toward the required upper-level 27 units.

L05 Japan 119 Freshman Seminar: Anime as Popular Culture
In the contemporary media landscape, film, television, games, publishing and merchandizing are increasingly connected and help distribute cultural products across the globe. Japanese animation is one of the earliest and most successful examples of this powerful strategy. This course examines the global franchising industry of Japanese anime to explore basic questions about media and popular culture: How do we define a medium? How do consumer practices shape media and popular culture? What is the impact of globalization on media, and global media on national culture? Our investigations of Japan “cool” and its avid consumer cultures cover: animation aesthetics and technology; media convergence; anime fan cultures; science-fiction and remaking the body, history and identity through global media. No prerequisites. Enrollment limited to fifteen college freshmen. In addition to class meetings, there is a mandatory weekly scheduled screening.

L05 Japan 320C Japan Since 1868
For some, “Japan” evokes Hello Kitty, animated films, cartoons and sushi. For others, the Nanjing Atrocity, “Comfort Women,” the Bataan Death March, and problematic textbooks. For still... others, woodblock prints, tea ceremony, and cherry blossoms, or Sony Walkmans and Toyotas. Still others may hold no image at all. Tracing the story of Japan’s transformations, from a pre-industrial peasant society managed by samurai-bureaucrats into an expansionist nation-state and then to its current paradoxical guise of a peaceful nation of culture led by conservative nationalists, provides the means for deepening our understandings of historical change in one region and grappling with the methods and aims of the discipline of history.

L05 Japan 324 A User’s Guide to Japanese Poetry
This course introduces the art and craft of Japanese poetry, one of the world’s great literary traditions. Exploring the many styles of traditional verse — the poetic diary, linked verse, haiku and others — and their historical contexts, we gain insights into Japanese aesthetics and study the unique conventions of Japanese poetic production that have evolved over a span of some 1500 years. The course also incorporates a “haiku workshop,” in which we engage in group-centered poetry writing and critiquing. No prior knowledge of Japanese is required.

L05 Japan 336 The Floating World in Japanese Literature
This survey of Japanese literature covers the 17th to the 19th century. Primary focus is on the Genroku era (1688–1703), which witnessed the growth of lively urban centers and the emergence of a robust literary voice. Emphasis on the ideological and cultural contexts for the development of a variety of new innovations in the genres of poetry (haiku), theater (kabuki and bunraku) and prose (kana zoshi). Recommended for both Japanese and Chinese majors. No knowledge of Japanese language is required. Sophomore standing and above recommended.

L05 Japan 4062 The Art of Borrowing: The “West” in Japanese Life
This course aims to examine Western influences in Japan and Japan’s reconceptualizing the “West” in various aspects of popular culture, including cuisine, sports, music, language, advertising, entertainment and domesticity. It is primarily an anthropological survey with historical references on Japan’s turn to Western civilization in the modern era. The course explores Japanese perceptions of the “West,” and how Japanese consume the “West” by attaching meanings to “Western” symbols and practices, and making them part of Japanese culture and life. Rather than explicating Japan’s relationship with the West, the course scrutinizes the “West” constructed within Japanese discourse, as both a racial/ethnic other and a cultural fantasy. Course assignments include a round-table discussion on specific topics relating to cultural integration and internationalization, and globalization and localization.

L05 Japan 446 The Japanese Theater

An investigation, using English materials, of the major developments and forms of the Japanese theater, from Noh and its antecedents to the rise of a modern drama. In this course we are less concerned with the performative aspects of theatrical arts (though these are introduced via videos) than with the ways in which dramatic texts influenced and borrowed from the literary tradition. Readings from major theatrical texts, secondary studies on Japanese theater, and literary sources. Prerequisite: junior standing or permission of instructor. Credit 3 units. A&S: TH, CD, SD FA: Lit

L05 Japan 448 Japanese Poetry

A comprehensive survey of Japanese poetry from the 8th century to the present day. Topics include the development of the great tradition of court poetry in the Heian period (ca. 800–1200) and its full flowering during the medieval period (ca. 1200–1600), the influence of the Zen aesthetic, the emergence of linked verse and haiku, and the transformation of the classical tradition with the advent of the modern era. All works are read in English translation, although knowledge of Japanese is useful. Graduate students and Japanese majors are expected to read original materials extensively. L05 Japan 449 Modern Japanese Women Writers: WI

Japanese women have been scripted by Western (male) imagination as gentle, self-effacing creatures. From their (re)emergence in the late 19th century to their dominance in the late 20th, Japanese women writers have presented an image of their countrywomen as anything but demure. Struggling to define their voices against ever-shifting expectations and social contexts, the women they create in their fiction are valiant, if not at times violent. This course examines the various manifestations of the female image in female-authored modern Japanese fiction. Writers considered are Higuchi Ichiyo, Hirabayashi Taiko, Uno Chiyo, Enchi Fumiko, Yamada Eimi and others. A selection of novels and shorter fiction are available in English translation, and students need not be familiar with Japanese. Prerequisites: 6 units of literature/women’s studies and junior standing, or permission of the instructor. Writing-intensive course.

L05 Japan 4911 Modern Japan and the Invention of Tradition
A discourse of “uniqueness” has been a prominent feature of Japanese culture in the 20th century, both before and after the Pacific War. This course explores the domain of nativist expression in modern Japan. While focusing on literary texts by writers such as Kawabata and Tanizaki, we also consider a range of artistic, cinematic, and cultural production. Considerable attention is paid to “Nihonjinron,” an important — and best-selling — genre of “Japanese uniqueness” writing. Our goal is to make sense of the complex intersection of traditionalism and modernism in 20th century Japan, and to consider the larger question of modern nationhood and the construction of national identity.
