

MPH/Doctor of Medicine (MD)

The MPH/MD program is available exclusively to current Washington University School of Medicine students pursuing their Doctor of Medicine degree. Students in this program earn a Master of Public Health degree from the Brown School in one additional year of study.

Designed for medical students with an interest in population health, this program approaches improving community health from the perspective of prevention. Students gain an understanding of the social, economic, environmental and cultural determinants of health and learn to apply evidence-based approaches to community-level disease prevention, health promotion and health policy.

Additional Information

For more information about the MD/MPH program (<http://bulletin.wustl.edu/medicine/degrees-offerings/mph/>), please contact Angela Hobson, PhD, assistant dean for Public Health, by phone at 314-935-2760 or by email at hobsona@wustl.edu.

Email: brownadmissions@wustl.edu
Website: <https://brownschool.wustl.edu/academics/joint-and-dual-degrees/pages/MPH-doctor-of-medicine.aspx>