

MPH/Master of Social Work (MSW)

Students from this program earn a Master of Social Work (MSW) degree and a Master of Public Health (MPH) degree, both from the Brown School. The program of study requires 85 credit units, typically taken over the course of three years.

This dual degree brings together global health, social justice, policy and evidence-based approaches to address complex issues. Some of the areas in which dual-degree knowledge and skills are necessary are medical social work, health disparities, health care access for marginalized populations, and health administration and policy.
