

MSW Dual and Joint Degrees

We feature structured joint- and dual-degree programs that allow students to earn a Master of Social Work degree in combination with one of the following degrees from the top-ranked schools of Washington University:

- Master of Public Health (MPH) (<http://bulletin.wustl.edu/brownschool/msw-mph/>)
- Master of Social Policy (MSP) (<http://bulletin.wustl.edu/brownschool/msp/>)
- Master of Architecture (MArch) or Master of Urban Design (MUD) (<http://bulletin.wustl.edu/brownschool/msw-march-mud/>)
- Master of Arts in Education (MAEd) (<http://bulletin.wustl.edu/brownschool/msw-maed/>)
- Master of Business Administration (MBA) (<http://bulletin.wustl.edu/brownschool/msw-mba/>)
- Law (JD) (<http://bulletin.wustl.edu/brownschool/msw-jd/>)

We also offer two additional joint degrees in partnership with Eden Theological Seminary (<https://www.eden.edu/degree-programs/>):

- Master of Divinity (MDiv) (<http://bulletin.wustl.edu/brownschool/msw-mdiv/>)
- Master of Arts in Professional Studies (MAPS) (<http://bulletin.wustl.edu/brownschool/msw-maps/>)

Note: To enter a joint-degree program, students must apply to each school separately and be admitted to both. Applicants interested in the MSW/MPH or MSW/MSP dual degree must apply to the Brown School's social work (<https://brownschool.wustl.edu/academics/master-of-social-work/MSW-application-information/>) and public health (<https://brownschool.wustl.edu/academics/master-of-public-health/MPH-application-instructions/>) or social work and social policy (<https://brownschool.wustl.edu/Academics/Joint-and-Dual-Degrees/Master-of-Social-Policy/MSP-Application-Information/Pages/default.aspx>) programs separately.

For more information about any of these programs, contact Brown School Admissions (<https://brownschool.wustl.edu/pages/contact-us.aspx>).
