Philosophy

The Washington University Philosophy Department houses two PhD programs: a regular program that covers a broad array of philosophy — with special strengths in ethics, moral psychology, political philosophy, philosophy of mind, philosophy of language, metaphysics, and the history of philosophy — and a special interdisciplinary program called Philosophy-Neuroscience-Psychology (PNP) that maintains a core faculty in philosophy and draws on Washington University’s exceptional psychological and neuroscience programs.

The department accepts about 10% of the applicants to these PhD programs and maintains about 25 students in both programs. We are especially open to interdisciplinary work, and we are committed to providing methodologically and substantively broad training. We welcome applicants from a wide range of backgrounds, but the most successful applicants have evidence of philosophical talent and promise.
