

Doctor of Medicine and Master of Business Administration

The School of Medicine and the Olin Business School offer a combined MD/MBA program. The program augments medical training with the knowledge and skills to both identify the most pressing problems and propose solutions that will make a difference beyond the bedside. Students learn to make a meaningful difference for patients, partners, communities, and the entire system. This program — which takes one year to complete, in addition to the MD curriculum — provides a valuable educational experience in mentorship, leadership, innovation, formal advising, and integrated experiential learning opportunities that connect the skills of business with the mission of health care. A particular focus of the program is the integration of concepts across cultures and geographic boundaries. Financial support is available from several sources. Associate Professor Aaron Chamberlain, MD, is the advisor for this program and may be contacted at amchamberlain@wustl.edu for more information.
